LeMay Grays Harbor Disposal, a waste communications company, recently launched 'LeMay, Inc.', a mobile app that makes it easy for customers to stay in touch with information about waste collection and recycling. Customers will not only find a special schedule for their home address, as the LeMay, Inc. app will also help them be better at recycling. The app contains a searchable list of common household waste with details on how to recycle or dispose of the item, locally. In addition, the app provides options for customers to be notified of weekly collection services and service interruptions. Residents can download the LeMay, Inc. mobile app for smartphones from Apple or Android. Customers who don't have an Apple or Android smartphone can also visit LeMay Grays Harbor to get rid of the products and search for their home address in my table tool. Customers can then: Subscribe to waste collection reminders and service alerts by email, phone call or text message. Reminders come out the night before the day of service and the customer can set the reminder time that works best for them. Download their group scheduling in iCal, Google Calendar, or Microsoft Outlook Calendar. Print their group table. In graysharbor.lemayinc.com, residents can also search the waste processor to see if the material can be reused, recycled, composted or disposed of. Our customers do a great job of recycling and diverting waste away from landfills, said Port Site Manager Roger Swalander. Now it's easier to stay in touch with information about solid waste management in our community through the LeMay, Inc. mobile and online gadgets app. We are very pleased with the response and encourage customers to subscribe to collection day reminders, so they never forget to recycle them again. LeMay Grey's Disposal Port is a member of the Grays Port Chamber of Commerce and supports many young and top programs across the country. When the Greys Port Transport Aton Terminal in LeMay is completed, the public will use these metrics on the east side of the site when bringing waste to the facility at 29 Gavett Lane, west of Montesano. Commercial vehicles will use separate scales to be installed after the station opens on Aug. 1. Photo taken on Friday, July 12, 2019, near the National Guard armory on Clemons Road. (Michael Lang | Grace Harbor News Group) LeMay is scheduled to open a new multi-million dollar conversion plant behind the National Guard armory on North Clemons Road, west of Montesano. The first day of operation of the new station is August 1 st at 29 Gavett Lane. Services moving to the new site include garbage, recycling and electronic waste disposal. Head office and Waste disposal will remain at the current transport station, at 4201 Olympic Highway in Aberdeen. The main thing we've looked at in this new facility is to keep public and commercial traffic separated, said Roger Swalander, site manager at Grays Port in Lami. The gauge will be moved at the existing transport terminal after the new facility opens on Aug. 1. Swalander says it will take about a month to move the meter to the new facility. During that time, public and commercial traffic will use the same range. He said the traffic flow was not enough at the old station. But the flow must be better at the new station because it is not on the highway. The design of the 12,000-square-foot building, where the garbage will be deposited, and how the plant will affect nearby landowners, has also been taken care of. We are fully aware of the neighbors' concerns about the debris blowing wind and noise. Swalander said. No one wants a transport station in their backyard. We can close two doors to prevent things from blowing and the building keeps rainwater away from the garbage. The building has eight 26-foot 22-foot-wide garage-style doors (four on public and commercial sides) for traffic. If someone needs to drop something longer than 26 feet, says Swalander, then they have a plan for it. The same number of people should still work at the station, about five to seven at any time. LeMay Grays Port Transportation New Grace Harbor County Station will open August 1 in East County. On that day, an old transport station in Aberdeen will only take hazardous waste. All garbage, recycling and e-waste will be removed at the new site. Transfer station: 29 Gavett Lane in Montesano. Offices and hazardous waste: 4201 Olympic Highway, Aberdeen.
